WHAT CHANGED AND WHEN WAS IT EFFECTIVE?

Effective date: March 13, 2020

The bold wording is new:

Preamble D.1 Telehealth Services

“Telehealth Service” is defined as a medical practitioner delivered health service provided to a patient through the use of video technology or telephone. “Video technology” means the recording, reproducing and broadcasting of live visual images utilizing a direct interactive video link with a patient. Services which are designated as Telehealth services are payable by MSP. Consultations, office visits, and non-procedural interventions where there is no Telehealth fee may be claimed under the face-to-face fee with a claim note record that the services was provided via Telehealth. Telehealth services do not include teleradiology or tele-ultrasound, which are regulated by their specific Sectional Preambles.

Application of the rule changes:

All physicians, including locums, may utilize the Telehealth (video or telephone) fee codes per their section fee guides and the additional information in Preamble clause D.1. Telehealth Services may be provided from any location where privacy can be ensured, even your home should you be in quarantine or self-isolation.

Most visits provided by telephone by a physician should be billed under the Telehealth codes in your individual Section Fee Guide. Bill Telehealth services using in-person fee codes only if there is no applicable existing Telehealth fee code. When using in-person fee codes for Telehealth (video or telephone) services, you must include a note record with the submission that the service was provided via Telehealth.

Specialist Telehealth (video or telephone) fee codes apply regardless of location. Family doctors have in and out of office Telehealth fees – be sure to read the Family Physician FAQs for the definitions.

Services directly related to COVID-19 should include the diagnostic code C19. Physicians should continue to use their professional judgement to determine whether the use of Telehealth (video or telephone) is clinically appropriate based on the circumstances of each patient. This includes any discussions where COVID-19 is the topic and is not restricted to patients who are seeking testing or have been tested.

A word about privacy and security:

During times of medical emergency, whether caring for an individual patient or a large scale public health crisis, physicians should always give priority to providing patient care to the best of their ability. In the current situation we recognize that physicians' office practices and delivery of care may be significantly impacted. Physicians should continue to act in the best interests of their patients and may need to adapt and be resourceful in a rapidly changing and challenging environment. Telehealth (video or telephone) care is one important way you can continue to care for patients while keeping your patients as well as yourself and your staff safe. Choose tools that work well for you and your patient regardless of whether they formally meet privacy and security requirements. That is secondary to delivering care.

Q: Can patients provide verbal consent for the Telehealth/virtual health visit (and have this be documented in the chart), or do they still need to sign a written consent?

A: You may obtain verbal consent and document in chart.

FAMILY PHYSICIANS BILLING QUERIES:

Until Further Notice: Family physicians providing medical services by phone to patients may use 13037 rather than 14076.

Telehealth (video or telephone) fees may not be delegated and billed to MSP. Continue to use 14076 when delegating a phone visit to a college certified allied care provider (ACP) who is employed by your practice.

Non-procedural interventions provided by video or telephone where there is no Telehealth fee may be claimed under the face-to-face fee with a claim note record that the service was provided via Telehealth. Examples include: Long Term Care Facility visits, Palliative Care Facility visits, Group Medical Visits.

Definition of In-Office and Out of Office when using FP Telehealth fee codes:

In-Office means the service is provided from a location other than a Health Authority site.

Out-of-Office means the physician providing the service is physically present in a Health Authority approved facility. The name of the facility and the results of the Telehealth service must be recorded in the patient chart.

- Bill 13037 for the equivalent of an in-office visit (00100, 12100, 15300, 16100, 17100, 18100) if you are physically located in your clinic/home or other location (that is not a Health Authority facility) when calling your patient.
- Bill 13038 for a counselling visit (instead of 00120, 12120, 15320, 16120, 17120, 18120) if you are physically located in your clinic/home or other location (that is not a Health Authority facility) when calling your patient.
- If you are physically located in a Health Authority facility when calling your patient, you can bill the GP Telehealth out-of-office fees 13016, 13017, 13018, 13021 and 13022. The name of the facility and the results of the Telehealth (video or telephone) service must be recorded in the patient chart.

If you are providing consultations by referral

- Bill 13036 for a consultation done when you are physically located in your clinic/home or other location (that is not a Health Authority facility)
- Bill 13016 for an out-of-office consultation done when you are physically located in a Health Authority facility. The name of the facility and the results of the Telehealth (video or telephone) service must be recorded in the patient chart.

Q: Can I bill the age-based 0100 and 0120 series when service is provided by Telehealth (video or telephone)?

A: No, you must bill the Telehealth GP office visit codes 13037 or 13017.

Q: If a physician is in quarantine (self-isolation), can they provide Telehealth (video or telephone) services?

A: Yes. Using the appropriate Telehealth fee codes per their fee guide.

Q: Can I still provide and bill for consultations via Telehealth (video or telephone) without providing the face-to-face components of the consultations?

A: This is being left to physician discretion. If the physician feels they could have performed the in-person consultation without an examination, then they can bill the Telehealth (video or telephone) consultation without an examination. Physicians should continue to use their professional judgement to determine whether use of virtual technology is clinically appropriate based on the circumstances of each patient.

Q: If I speak to my patient on the phone and determine they need to come in what do I bill?

A: You can bill either the 13037 for the telephone discussion or the appropriate in-person fee for the service provided face-to-face. Telehealth (video or telephone) and a face-to-face service are not billable on the same patient/same day by the same physician with the exception of the two new COVID fees T13701 and T13702.

Q: If I speak to my patient on the phone and determine they need to come in what is billed if they are seen by a different physician in our multi-physician clinic than the one they spoke with on the phone?

A: 13037 for the telephone discussion is billable by the first physician and the appropriate in-person fee for the service provided face-to-face by the other physician.

Q: Are the fee code changes permanent?

A: No, these are temporary changes under the COVID-19 pandemic environment and will be discontinued at the call of the Provincial Health Officer.

Q: Does 13037 apply to visits that are not COVID related?

A: Yes, this fee code and the Telehealth changes are not restricted to COVID related services. However, please be sure to use diagnostic code C19 for COVID related services.

Q: Can I swab my symptomatic or presumptive patients outside my office, such as in their cars in the parking lot?

A: Yes. You can also schedule these patients for the end of day or a separate day to minimize exposure risks.

Q: My patients want to have their prescriptions renewed by phone visit. Should I bill this phone call to the patient as an uninsured service or as a telehealth service ?

A: If you speak to the patient on the telephone about the health care issue and determine that the patient needs a new prescription or a prescription refill, you may bill this as 13037 Telehealth (video or telephone) office visit.

Q: How do these changes apply to physicians providing care to patients in Long Term Care facilities?

A: If the patient is able to independently use a phone and the physician feels that the encounter could be appropriately provided by Telehealth (video or telephone), then physicians will bill their face to face Long Term Care facility fee 00114 and include the claim note record "service provided via Telehealth".

If the patient cannot independently use a phone (e.g.: due to dementia, hearing loss etc.), or does not have their own phone, the physician may review the patient's medical status and any problems by telephone with an RN/LPN at the LTC facility, and bill the visit using 00114 and include the claim note record "Service provided via Telehealth with RN/LPN."

Q: Can Group Medical Visits be provided by Telehealth (video or telephone)?

A: Yes, this would be considered a non-procedural intervention and if they can arrange for the group to be held via Telehealth (video or telephone), then they can claim under the face-to-face fee and enter "service provided via Telehealth" in the claim note record.

GENERAL PRACTICE SERVICES COMMITTEE INITIATIVES

Q: We've delegated phone calls to patients to our office nurses in the past, using 14076. Since we're now able to bill 13037 for phone calls, does that apply to nurses?

A: The 13037 cannot be delegated and billed to MSP. Continue to bill 14076 when delegating a phone visit to a College-certified allied care provider (e.g.: Nurse, Nurse Practitioner) employed by your practice.

Remember, the task of relaying physician advice to a patient may be delegated to any Allied Care Provider or MOA working within the physician practice and billed as 14078.

Q: What about GPSC Chronic Disease Management fees 14050, 14051, 14052, 14053?

A: There is no change to the fee rules for the GPSC CDM fee codes. Existing rules already allow one of the two required visits to be provided by Telehealth.

Q: Can GPSC incentives be billed together with the Telehealth billing codes?

A: We are working with GPSC and MSP on this answer.

Q: Can the General Practice Services Committee fee codes (14033, 14043, 14063, 14066, 14075) be performed via Telehealth (video or telephone) and billed with the claim note record “service provided via Telehealth”?

A: We are working with GPSC and MSP on this answer.

SPECIALIST PHYSICIANS BILLING QUERIES

Q: What about the face-to-face requirements of the consultations?

A: This is being left to physician discretion. If the physician feels they could have performed the in-person consultation without an examination then they can bill the Telehealth (video or telephone) consultation without an examination.

If the Telehealth (video or telephone) consultation results in an examination being required the physician should bill the first encounter as a visit and when the patient comes into the office then bill the consultation code.

Q: If a physician is in quarantine, can they provide Telehealth (video or telephone) services?

A: Yes. Using the appropriate Telehealth fee codes per their fee guide.

WORKSAFEBC AND ICBC SERVICES

Effective immediately WorksafeBC and ICBC will permit Telehealth (video and telephone) for anything that does not require a physical exam/assessment. Details are below, but if physicians encounter problems they should contact the regular ICBC/WorkSafeBC contacts listed below. If that fails then contact Doctors of BC. These changes will be in effect until an end date can safely be determined.

ICBC will be pausing all Driver's Medical Examinations. An announcement from the Superintendent of Motor Vehicles is expected today.

From WorkSafeBC:

- The requirement that telehealth fees must involve video technology has been expanded to include telephone. Therefore, if you conduct services via telephone you can bill the appropriate telehealth fee codes in your Fee Guide. This includes services for all patients including COVID-19 patients.
- Consultations, office visits, and non-procedural interventions where there is no telehealth fee may be claimed under the face-to-face fee with a claim note record and document on the consult report or physician's report (Form 8/11) that the service was provided via video technology or telephone are payable by WorkSafeBC.

Physicians should continue to use their professional judgement to determine whether use of virtual technology is clinically appropriate based on the circumstances of each patient.

If you have any questions please contact Health Care Services at HCSINQU@worksafebc.com.

From ICBC:

- Physicians are encouraged to deliver necessary care to ICBC patients by accessing available telehealth (video or telephone) services and billing the telehealth or applicable non-procedural fee code and making a notation in the patient record. Additionally, the Physician Telephone Management Fee code can also be leveraged in appropriate cases, invoiced directly to ICBC as outlined in the ICBC Fee Guide.
- Initial visits for the evaluation of recent injuries sustained by your patients may be scheduled in-clinic on an as-needed basis. Initial and Reassessment visits for the preparation of requested reports should be rescheduled in support of reducing non-essential in-person visits. When in-person visits can be resumed, these visits that require a physician exam to complete a report can be rescheduled.

Physicians should continue to use their professional judgement to determine whether use of telehealth is clinically appropriate based on the circumstances of each patient.

ICBC's Health Care Inquiry Unit is available to support most general and claim-specific questions, by calling 1-888-717-7150. MSP-Teleplan and Doctors of BC are also available to support specific billing questions.
