We strive to create an environment where you enjoy the work you do, the place where you work, and the people around you. From the financial advisor managing our health care resources, to the IT professional enabling life-saving data, to the nurse and physician on the front line of patient care, everyone plays a role in the care continuum. Together, we create great workplaces.

Position Highlights

Bring your clinical knowledge, vision and strategic leadership to Fraser Health, BC’s fastest growing health authority, and make a positive difference for 1.8 million people we serve. Working as a Medical Health Officer-Medical Director you will make an impact as a senior leader within a health care organization comprised of approximately 25,000 employees and 2,900 physicians.

With legislated statutory authority and responsibilities, your expert consultation and leadership in the areas of community health, planning, evaluation, research and program development as well as population health strategies will be key to improve population health and quality patient care. You will collaborate with Fraser Health’s senior executives, physicians and staff, other Health Regions, the BC Center for Disease Control, the Ministry of Health, the Health Officers Council of BC, and various advisory and policy subcommittees at local and provincial levels.

A dedicated focus on quality in public health, experience in a matrix organizational structure and a track record in building and enhancing effective partnerships with academic institutions, professional associations and other community and clinical settings are competencies key to this dynamic and pivotal role. Superb communication and presentation skills will enhance your opportunities to champion initiatives in support of Fraser Health’s strategic goals and objectives.

This position will involve the provision of geographic coverage as well as leadership responsibilities for regional programmatic areas. Specific duties for each Medical Health Officer within Fraser Health will be determined by the Chief Medical Health Officer, VP Population of Health in accordance with the needs of Fraser Health and changed as required.

As the successful candidate, you have a Medical Degree with a full license to practice medicine in British Columbia plus a Masters in Health Sciences or equivalent, FRCP in Public Health/Community Medicine or equivalent qualifications. You will have a proven record of expertise and leadership in Public Health.

This is a permanent full-time opportunity based at Central City office in Surrey, BC.
