

Supporting Physicians To Use Fraser Health's Email Address

What's Happening?

- We are making it easier for physicians to use their Fraser Health email address for Fraser Health business.
- Physicians will be prioritized to be on-boarded to the new Outlook app to access Fraser Health emails on-the-go.
- All physicians (except senior medical leaders) are removed from the 'All Fraser Health' distribution lists to prevent clutter in your mailbox.

Why?

Your Fraser Health email is your direct line to important resources and information from Fraser Health and your physician leadership. For example, you can access the following:

- Information on COVID-19, 360's, e-forms and Physician Activity Reports (PARs).
- Full use of Microsoft Teams for collaborative teamwork and productivity tools, including video meetings, shared workspaces and chat.
- Access to colleagues, team members and Fraser Health personnel.

Soon, with Office 365, you will have another fast and easy way to access Fraser Health emails on your mobile device through the Outlook app.

By using your Fraser Health email you are professionally representing the organization and your correspondence is governed by corporate privacy standards.

Separating your work and personal emails can help with work-life balance and medical staff wellness.

What do I need to do?

Start using your Fraser Health email for Fraser Health business.

For assistance in setting up your email call the Service Desk at 604-585-5544, or email Stephen Smith at .fhinformaticsmedicalaffairs@fraserhealth.ca.

The migration of physicians to Fraser Health's email address was endorsed by your Health Authority Medical Advisory Committee (HAMAC) on July 8, 2020, requesting all physicians to transition to Fraser Health emails by Fall 2021.

Questions or comments?

For questions about the transition to Fraser Health emails, contact Dr. Dayan Muthayan, Executive Medical Director Physician Partnerships and Performance, at dayan.muthayan@fraserhealth.ca with a copy to: physiciancoordinationcentre@fraserhealth.ca.
